Finding Some Normalcy Timothy Archer

The other day I talked about my work life during “limited shelter in place.” That reflects part of my strategy for dealing with all of this craziness: find ways to create normalcy.

I have found times when I found myself stressed without really knowing why. That made me realize how disorienting a loss of routine is.

So I’m trying to maintain a normal routine. I get up early and do my usual morning routine. I shower, shave and dress as if I were going to my office. I try to keep normal office hours, working during that time.

But what if you can’t? I can work from home pretty well, but not everyone can. I still say you need “work hours,” where you are doing something productive. It may be cleaning and organizing your home. It may be working on that home improvement project you’ve been putting off.

Or maybe your “work” will involve education. Learn something. There are free online courses. There are apps available to help you learn the rudiments of a foreign language. There are online videos to teach you how to play an instrument, how to bake a cake, how to build a birdhouse... so many different things. Or maybe you want to educate yourself more on world politics, global economics, or things of the sort. Now’s a good time.

This is a great time for writing letters. Making phone calls to encourage people. Spending more time in prayer.

Many of you have children at home. Maybe your “work” is to help them find some normalcy.

I’m convinced that you need to be able to say, “I accomplished this.” More than leveling up in Fortnite or rewatching all the episodes of “This is Us.” You’ll feel better if you make something, help someone, or educate yourself.

"Notes in the Key of A"

The last few weeks have been very surreal. They have been challenging. They have also been encouraging. I know as we battle this virus all across the world, the threat is real.

However, one thing I have also noticed, the Church, is strong. Thank you to our elders for providing us with the means to be able to livestream our services and Bible Study.

Thank you to you for your encouragement and tuning in to our streamed services. Keep doing great thing for the Kingdom!

I cannot wait to be in services with you again!

Have a great week for God!
I love you,
Wes

A Minute with Mac

Another week of staying in and staying safe. I know many are getting cabin fever, but take a deep breathe, get outside and enjoy God's creation! We will get through this, with God's help and guidance.

This morning we will continue with our FOCUS 2020 theme as we look at the what we do as the Church. Wes will be bringing us our sermon this morning as we look at the topic of edification. I pray that you can join us via our Facebook page at 10 a.m. for our livestream service. We will have a full worship service with all the acts of worship including singing, prayer, preaching of God's Word, partaking of the Lord's Supper and giving. Although we can't physically meet in the building together, we can still worship together though the wonderful technology we have before us.

Later this afternoon, there will be a pre-recorded bible class uploaded to our Facebook page. We will be beginning the book of Jude. Please leave any comments or questions that you may have and we will discuss them on during the next bible study. Also be on the look out for Wes' weekly teen bible study also. You can also find it on his YouTube channel.

Please join us live each Wednesday night as Wes and I have our mid-week bible study on our Facebook page also. This will be live streamed and encourage you to comment and ask questions. Lord willing in next week we will be doing a live question and answer bible study. If you have questions that you would like us to answer, please text them to us this week. We need your questions!

Please continue to pray for one another and check on one another. Continue to pray for our Eldership as they shepherd us through this difficult time! Love you all and stay safe!
