WHY WORRY?

I'm guilty... and if we are honest with ourselves, we are all guilty. Guilty of what you may ask. We are all guilty of letting our anxieties and worries get the best of us. How many times a day do you say or think... "I'm worried about _____". Worrying is over concern about something and it will wear us down quickly. It helps nothing. It changes nothing. The things we worry about are often out of our control. So why do we do it?

When we stand back and give serious thought to it, it is easy to get caught up in worries and anxieties. It is easy to start thinking that the sky is falling, and we are going to be crushed by what is weighing us down. We begin to feel like we can't breathe any more or we feel like we are drowning in a sea of despair. But imagine if, instead of letting our minds dwell on the uncertainties, we turned to prayer.

Prayer isn't just a ritual; it's a conversation with something greater than us. When we choose to pray more than worry, we open our hearts to a source of strength and comfort. It's like sharing our concerns with a close friend who listens without judgment. In those moments of prayer, we find solace, clarity, and a sense of peace that surpasses understanding. So, let's replace our worries with heartfelt prayers, trusting that in the silence of our prayers, we may discover answers, guidance, and the courage to face whatever comes our way.

"Don't worry about anything; instead, pray about everything. Tell God what you need, and thank him for all he has done."
