The Toddler’s Creed
Al Behel

Children are special people, especially toddlers. They have a rather unique view of the world. Someone has shared this insight into their thinking, called, “The Toddler’s Creed”:

- If I want it, it’s, mine.*
- If I give it to you and change my mind later, it’s mine.*
- If I can take it away from you, it’s mine.*
- If I had it a little while ago, it’s mine.*
- If it’s mine, it will never belong to anyone else, no matter what.*
- If we are building something together, all the pieces are mine.*
- If it looks just like mine, it’s mine.*

Every parent of a toddler knows that this is an accurate description of the world as they see it. While we expect this self-centered trait in toddlers, we find it very repulsive in older children and adults.

Many people live almost exclusively for themselves. Extreme self-interest is called “narcissism.” The narcissist thinks the world should evolve around them...everyone should focus on them, elevate them, cower to their wants and demands, and yield to their emotional manipulations.

Self is at the center of all sin. There is no room on the throne for Christ as long as self is king. Dying to self is essential to serving Christ. The apostle Paul taught that we should “count others better” than ourselves (Philippians 2:3).

Sadly, toddlers are not the only ones who suffer from self-centeredness. Our culture worships at the alter of self. Our insatiable demand for fun, entertainment, and comfort leaves us approaching almost every issue with thoughts of how we are affected, not what effect our choices may have on others. Narcissistic Christianity is not Christ- centered, but is self-centered, and will ultimately destroy itself.

A Minute with Mac

It is my prayer that your week went well. I hope that you were able to enjoy your Saturday and that you got plenty of rest and are ready to worship God this morning. If you are visiting with us today, I want you to know that you are honored guest and that if you have any questions about what is done or what is said, please don't hesitate to ask. We want to please God and want to make sure that we are truly doing what the Word of God requires us to do to be pleasing to Him.

This morning and evening, Jake Whitehead will be preaching to us. We are very blessed to have Jake and Meredith with us here at Shiloh. Jake does a phenomenal job with our youth and not only with our youth, but also with preaching and helping with the young and old alike. Please pay attention to what Jake says and be sure to encourage him today!

I will miss being with you all today as I am preaching at the Mountain Home congregation near Bear Creek today. Lord willing, I will be back with you this Wednesday night.

Don't forget that Ronnie Ray will be speaking in a meeting at the Antioch congregation this week. More information about the days and times of the meeting are on the round table in the foyer. Please go and support brother Ronnie and the fine folks at Antioch this week if you can.

Don't forget about our opportunities for studying God's Word during the week. Each Wednesday morning we have a Bible Study here at the building that is for all ages beginning at 10 a.m. Then we have our mid-week devotional and Bible Study each Wednesday evening at 6:30 p.m. Lord willing, we will pick back up with our study of the book of Matthew in the auditorium class on Wednesday night.

Thanks so much for being here—it's going to be a great day!
