What Makes a Good Judge?

Matt Clifton

Our nation is once again in the midst of controversy regarding the appointing of a Supreme Court justice. Those on the left and those on the right will wrangle and grapple through the process, each having their own opinions on what makes a good judge. But does the Bible have any guidance for us on the matter?

In Exodus 18:13-23, the appointing of judges was suggested by Moses’ father-in-law as a way to take the burden off of the prophet. The hopeful outcome of this system was that “all this people will also go to their place in peace” (Ex. 18:23). Jethro’s advice to Moses was to choose men with certain qualities. They were to be:

Able. This meant they were to be competent and able to perform their duties; men who would do their work with all their strength (Ecc. 9:10; Col. 3:17). A good judge would use their skills to the maximum!

Reverent. Reverence is seen in God’s people throughout the Bible. Examples such as the Hebrew midwives (Exodus 1:17-21) who valued life because they fear God, and men like Job who withstood hardship because he feared the Lord (Job 1:1). Good judges will be people who have wisdom (Psalm 111:10) and know the meaning of life (Ecc. 12:13) because they understand that God is supreme.

True. To be a lover of truth means to recognize there is right and wrong, and judge accordingly (John 7:24). Good judges will be lovers of God’s word (John 17:17; Psalm 119:160), not inventors of ways to let evil off the hook (Romans 1:32), and not hypocrites who don’t practice what they prescribe for others (Rom. 2:1-3).

Honest. Bribery has always been an issue among judges, apparently. Israel’s sins included judges taking bribes (Micah 7:3). The judges Moses appointed were to be “haters of covetousness,” which meant they would value justice over materialism, thus rejecting bribes.

These values from the Old Testament account are descriptive of general principles for righteous judges in our own time. Since a Supreme Court justice would certainly be a part of the civil legal system that Romans 13:1-7 covers, we understand that biblical morals would be a great benefit to being “God’s minister to you for good” (Rom. 13:4). Let us pray for our nation during this time, that judges with these qualities may be found!

A Minute with Mac

What a glorious day it is today. Not because of the weather but because it is the day that we are able to Worship our God. I'm glad that we are here with us at Shiloh this morning as we worship together. It is our prayer that everything we say and do is in accordance to God's Word. If you are visiting with us this morning and you have any questions about the worship service or the congregation here at Shiloh, please feel free to come and talk to me, Wes or one of the Elders.

This morning, Wes will continue looking at our yearly theme of God's vision for the church. Today Wes will be discussing how the Church is important to Christ because it is where the saved are. I am really looking forward to hearing another great sermon from Wes this morning.

Due to not having in-person Bible Classes, at 6 p.m. there will be a pre-recorded bible class uploaded to our Facebook page. We will be finishing up Psalm chapter 18. Also be on the look out for Wes' weekly teen bible study, K-5 bible study and the Cradle Roll bible study; all which can be found on our Facebook page and YouTube channel. You can also go to our website and click the YouTube link to view all of these classes as well.

Please look on the inside of the bulletin for the Sunday night ideas for next week and let me or Wes know what you would prefer.

We have now returned to in person Bible Classes on Wednesday nights beginning October 7th. College age and up will all be in the auditorium.

Please continue to pray for one another and check on one another. Pray for our country as we are facing a time of disarray. Continue to pray for our Eldership as they shepherd us through this difficult time! Love you all and stay safe!
